RICHMOND'S elite called last evening to welcome Miss Emma Gray White, one of the winter's most charming debutantes, formally into society. Mr. and Mrs. William H. White presented Miss White to the married people and older folk from 7 until 9 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock of the younger set were invited. Their home, 806 West Franklin, was artistically arranged everywhere in pink and green. Pinks and pink roses were used throughout the lower floor. Mr. and Mrs. White received with their daughter, Miss Emma Gray White, and her house guests, Miss Credella Miller, of Baltimore, and Miss Elodie Williams, of Norfolk. Mrs. White wore a Morris gown of blue, trimmed in handsome black lace. Miss White was exquisitely gowned in a Morris gown of white satin, veiled in chiffon and trimmed in tiny American Beauty roses; Miss Miller wore blue chiffon, trimmed in pearls, and Miss Williams, white chiffon, trimmed in beads. Smart society enjoyed real Virginia hospitality as Miss White's delightful "coming out" party last night.

HOLLAND REPLIES TO SHAW'S QUERY

Will Not Use Influence for Any Candidate—Announcements for State Senate.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Suffolk, Va., January 20.—Congressman-elect Holland, arriving to-night from Washington, wired his answer to the telegram of Lieutenant C. P. Shaw, of Norfolk, demanding his position before what he termed the "machine and the people," meaning Martin and Jones, which has been widely copied in the press.

Colonel Holland replied in part as follows:
"In a public speech made in Norfolk for my nomination, I reserved the right to vote for the candidates of my choice. This I shall do, and I concede the same right to every other voter in the district. I shall not at any time during my term of office knowingly use the influence of my position, whatever may be, to promote the interests of any particular candidate for public position."

Falling in their plans to have a board of arbitration decide what county is entitled to furnish the next Senator from the Third District and for how long, the chairman to (further) the county, pointing members of the committee, two of the signers of the arbitration agreement to-day announced their candidacy before the people, these being Assembly Delegate J. E. West, of Suffolk, and Attorney Ernest H. Williams, of Smithfield. The position of Dr. E. P. Turner, the third advocate of arbitration, was not learned to-night.

Following West's announcement for the Senate, Colonel R. L. Brewer, Jr., member of Governor Mann's staff, declared that he would vote for the House of Delegates from Nansemond.

GOVERNOR SENDS SPECIAL MESSAGE

Several Recommendations Made to North Carolina General Assembly.

"LOBBYING" / BILL KILLED
Requisition for Woman in Martinsville, Charged With Kidnapping.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Raleigh, N. C., January 20.—A special message was sent by Governor Kitchin to the General Assembly to-day transmitting the report of the State Board of Internal Improvement and recommending that some disposition be made of the State's interests in the North Carolina Railroad, which is not in the best possible condition, but he and the board doubt if anything can be done under the lease of the Southern to better conditions. The State's interests are declared not in absolutely satisfactory condition.

On representation that Gilbert Pearson, Secretary of the North Carolina Audubon Society, had moved to New York, and given wholesale permits for quail to be trapped and shipped out of North Carolina, the State should either sell its interest in the quail or take steps to have the road improved and put in operation.

A bill rushed through the General Assembly to-day under suspension of rules, forbidding moving pictures of prize-fights anywhere in Rockingham county, and giving immediate ratification for the special purpose of empowering the sheriff to stop a moving picture presentation of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, widely advertised to-night. It was feared that race trouble was imminent on account of the show, and the bill made provision for the sheriff to press into service any number of citizens to maintain order and prevent the exhibition of the pictures.

The salary of the Governor of North Carolina from $10,000 to $5,000, has been received by the Senate from the Committee on Salaries and Fees, with favorable report, and is set as a special order for next Wednesday.

The drastic bill against lobbying, introduced in the House Wednesday by Representative Wooten, of Louisa, has received a long hearing before Judiciary Committee No. 2, Connor, of Williamsburg, with the result that it received an almost unanimous unfavorable report, so that it will get no consideration on the floor of the assembly.

Such Representatives as Doughton, of Allegheny; Quickel, of Lincoln; Nixson, of Craven, and others pronounced the bill sweeping and drastic to such a degree that it would make it a crime punishable by $1,000 fine, for any citizen to discuss with any legislator measures in which he is interested, unless it be a bill bearing on his own county, and then he could discuss only with his own Representative.

Doughton considered the bill in effect a reflection on members of the General Assembly and an affront to the people of the State. In all his long legislative experience there had been no advances made for the purchase of his influence, he declared, and as for having citizens approach him concerning whatever measures they were interested in, he would always welcome them, from whatever quarter of the State they came. It was this view of the case and the fact that there are already statutes against bribery that proved the knockout for the Wooten bill, which he and Kellum, of New Hanover, pleaded in vain to have at least referred to a subcommittee for revision, in the hope of getting a bill against lobbying that would fill what they at least seemed to feel there was a crying need for.

Charters by State.
A charter has been issued for the Allgood Hosiery Company, of Vaughan, Warren county. The capital is $12,500, and the principal stockholders are M. F. Parker and C. R. Vaughan. The Parsons-Hardison Company, of Wadesboro, is another new corporation, capital $10,000, by W. P. Parsons and others. Still another new corporation is the Crutchfield Truck Lock Company, Greensboro, capital $100,000, by J. C. Crutchfield, C. M. Gutz and others. The Seaman Printing Company, Durham, is another new corporation, with H. L. Seaman principal incorporator, with a capital of $30,000.

The annual inspection of the companies composing the North Carolina National Guard will begin with the Raleigh company February 14 and close with Waynesville. Some of the other dates are: Charlotte, April 3; Greensboro, April 5; Wilmington, April 7; Durham, March 8, and Asheville, March 24 and 25. It is not yet known who will represent the War Department of the United States in these inspections. The State will be represented by Colonel Thomas Stringfield, of Fayetteville, Inspector-General of the North Carolina National Guard.

A police officer was dispatched from Raleigh to Martinsville, Va., to-day, armed with requisition papers from Governor Kitchin, of North Carolina, on the Governor of Virginia for a negro woman known as Emma Green and passing as "Rev. Mack," a preacher and exhorter, who is wanted here for kidnapping the little child of Adam Avera and his wife, Florence Avera, last November. The woman went to the Avera home where the infant was there with a twelve-year-old girl, whom she induced to go to a nearby grocery store for her, and when the girl returned the woman and the child were gone. The father was at one time under arrest on suspicion of having something to do with the disappearance of the child. He has been searching for "Rev. Mack" ever since, believing that she had the child. She had been here preaching among the negroes some time, and disappeared about the time of the kidnapping.
